TEENER...

By Beverly Henderson

Here's a talented teenager. She is Marlene Foster, 16 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Foster, 8288 Lincoln Avenue. Marlene is truly a Grove product. She started her schooling in the Lemon Grove Elementary system, attended Grossmont and is now a senior at Felix. A blue eyed, brown haired miss who has a "very sweet" disposition, she is a favorite with most students. She's five inches over five feet tall and weighs 110 pounds. So adept has she become in the art of music that she not only plays the piano, she teaches as well. She also has an unusually good voice, is a member of the Helix Green Robed Choir and one of the outstanding members of the Schubert Club, an honorary musical group. Naturally her hobby is music.

The "super-market" is yesterday's stepchild. Now it's an ultra-market and Mayfair is opening one of these behemoths shopping centers this week at Euclid. "We made it a dream-center or home-maker's shopping center," said Bob Gray, Mayfair

BIG BLOW COMING

More air raid siren tests are scheduled for the Grove area. This time you'll hear them Monday. Tests will be held between 9:30 and 12 noon at the County Civil Defense and Disaster Organization offices at 3146 School Lane. A press release asks that this information be disseminated to "eliminate and undue alarm or confusion." To those of us who on Imperial who are continuously bedeviled by the fog-type horn of the switch locomotive, we think the sirens will be a welcome relief.

It is said that to be a live wire you must have good connections. Chairman of the day was Dick Ten, Rev. Apra was guest of outstanding members.

Alice Ware Cuts The Cake For McMahon's

McMAHAN'S MARKS 33rd ANNIVERSARY

No matter how you slice it, a pretty birthday cake is made prettier if a pretty girl slices it. That's what happened earlier this week during the 33rd birthday anniversary of McMahon's in Lemon Grove. Lovely Alice Ware cuts the first piece of birthday cake as store manager "Bud" Stewart looks on. Cake and coffee will be offered to all comers during McMahon's "Sell-E-Bration" Friday and Saturday this week at the Broadway and Olive Street store. In addition to the java and pastry, red bud vases will be given feminine visitors while the supply lasts. Balloons will be given to junior shoppers. Stewart said that purchasers would share in the birthday festivities by receiving a galaxy of valuable gifts.

For example, a table lamp goes to every divan set purchaser and a boudoir lamp goes with a bedroom set.

An 8 piece dessert set is given with a dinette set and two feather umbrellas are thrown in with the mattress and box springs deal. Range purchasers receive a meat grinder and an electric clock goes with each Kelvinator refrigerator.

A month's supply of Tide is the birthday gift with Speed Queen washers and a TV lamp is presented to buyers of Motorola television sets.

Hundreds of these gifts items have been set aside for distribution this week-end according to Stewart. The annual birthday event, he said, ordinarily attracts heavy store traffic due to unusually attractive price-tagging. The gift merchandise should make the event even more attractive, he says.

Another New Building For Broadway

Purchase of a lot in the 7800 block on Broadway, between Packer and Bassett and Luther Hussey's law office by Sam Kahan and M. Walden was revealed this week.

Improvement of the property is planned in the near future. Walden stated. Improvements to fit the needs of any prospective tenant will be made by the owners provided a new structure is not under way.

Walden and Kahan recently made news in the Grove by erecting the structure currently occupied by Davis Markets. More recently they started a project on Broadway which will house a cocktail and steak house (to be opened about the end of the month) and a quality delicatessen and liquor store (to be opened about October 15th).

Construction will start on the new project about November 15th the owners said. Lessee's specifications can be met until approximately November 1st, they said.

BUSINESS FIRMS CREATE OWN PARKING PROBLEMS

A picture of the parking problem to come has been unveiled in Lemon Grove according to the local Chamber of Commerce. Many merchants are complaining about employees of other merchants utilizing the parking areas ordinarily available for shoppers.

Obviously, when these spaces are taken up by employees, or by merchants themselves, shoppers will start looking elsewhere for areas that afford better parking facilities, Chamber officials say.

Forrest Baxter, Chamber president puts it succinctly. "If your employees park in front of my place of business, and my employees use your parking area, the business men concerned are the losers. Ask your employees to use the same consideration in parking as they are expected to use in handling your business, because it is your business that's being frozen out."

Baxter said that a committee would be formed soon to take definite measures if businessmen complaints continue. The committee would probably investigate these complaints and report directly to the offending business house.

Chamber members having ideas and opinions on the subject are invited to bring them to the regular monthly Chamber meeting scheduled for October 7th.

"Why Don't You?" Asks Grove PTA

"Millions Do, Why Don't You?" is the slogan adopted for the membership campaign to be conducted next month at the Lemon Grove School P. T. A. At the office of Ben Schei, principal, Mrs. C. E. Eitenfield, membership chairman, met with her committee to map plans for the membership drive and set a goal for the intermediate school. Art classes will make posters for the drive, and all homeowners will feature special bulletin boards to indicate percentages gained during the two week period. Special awards will be made to the three rooms with the highest percentage in members.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Robert Beckham, president, and Mmes. Virgil Danielson, J. W. Burgreen, R. E. Edwards, and Margaret Darroch.

KIWANIS - KID'S DAY TO BRING MONTE HALL TO GROVE

When Monte Hall takes over the Lemon Grove-Kiwanis Kid's Day program on the 27th, he will mark two events to his liking. First, kid's activities are up his alley. He loves 'em. He'll be the master of ceremonies for the "March up Broadway" on the Kid's Day Saturday afternoon and he'll be judge of the talent event at San Miguel School following the parade.

The other event to Hall's liking is the new 3 year contract with KFMB-TV. Chan Mason, Grove Kiwanis president said that "Hall's contribution to the national Kid's day program in Lemon Grove would be 'inestimable'."

Howard Chernoff, general manager of KFMB, in announcing Hall's part in the Grove festivities said that the contract is just another way of saying Hall is one of the county's most "solid citizens."

Hall recently won a national award for child safety campaign work and his contribution to the Grove-Kiwanis festivity is in keeping with his interest in youngsters.

Schedule for the day, according to Mason, will call for a gigantic parade west on Broadway starting about noon. A talent show will be held at San Miguel School as the parade ends. The scene will shift to Helix for a Helix-Grossmont football game. The next event will be a hobby show at the Youth Center. All Kiwanians will take part in putting the ambitious show on, Mason said. The program is part of the national event scattered across the country on that day.

Many local citizens, Kiwanis members all, will perform two-man duty that day. Guys like Jerry Walters, John Dail, Dick Paden, Luther Hussey, Bill Neim-

What does incorporation mean? What is involved in annexation? Why can't Lemon Grove stay the way it is?

These and other questions of like nature will be answered at the next public meeting of the Lemon Grove Investigation Committee to be held next Thursday night, by the guest speakers and by the chairman of the Fact-Finding board.

President John Dail announced early today that not one, but two speakers have been obtained for the meeting which is open to every interested citizen of the Lemon Grove area. Dr. Robert Wilcox and Mr. Richard Bigger, both of the San Diego State College political science department are the scheduled speakers, and they will attempt to briefly summarize the principles involved in each of the possibilities open to the Grove area.

Dr. Wilcox is assistant professor of political science at the local college, and specializes in municipal and county government. Mr. Bigger, the most recent addition to the State College staff, is an authority on local government and has had much experience with the so called "fringe area" metropolitan areas in the Los Angeles area. Due to his familiarity with the problems faced by such areas, we are indeed fortunate to have Mr. Bigger present for a guest speaker assignment.

With September 25 the date, San Miguel School auditorium has been obtained as the meeting place because of its large capacity.

Everyone that lives in, or around Lemon Grove, is urged to attend this meeting which effects directly every person. This includes those residents of Brookside, American Homes, Monterey Heights, Vista La Mesa as well as those persons living in central Lemon Grove.

"Ever since the last public meeting, held in June, people have been wondering what has been accomplished and when another meeting would be held," Dail said. "Now that we have compiled enough information to present and have obtained such important speakers, we hope that the people of Lemon Grove will continue to show as much interest in this project as they have been," he added.

Meeting time is scheduled for 8:00, at which time the various chairman of the Fact-Finding teams will present to the people a short summary of their accomplishments to date. Following this information period, the guest speakers will assume the floor which will be followed with a question and answer period.

Although work is not yet complete in regards to the seeking out of information regarding the four alternatives, this public meeting is being held in order to acquaint the populace with the work accomplished so far, and is merely the second in a series of open meetings (the first one was held June 3). The intervals between the next few meetings will not be as long as this time it was promised by Mr. Dail.

amher, Tom Warburton, Ray Carmody, Dr. Brassington, Dr. White, Dewey Carmody and many others will have responsible jobs for the event. Prizes, of which there will be many, will be paid for out of the club's treasury. "It looks like a big day for the Harmon Russell, Bob Browne Grove kids," Mason grinned. "It looks like a great day for Paden, Luther Hussey, Bill Neim-

Inside Goodwin Target! Your Child's Safety

by Max Goodwin

Last month's "memorial period" of laying off work in the soft coal mines, called by John L. Lewis, has cost each of 340,000 miners about $80 he could otherwise have earned. The total cost of this period of "mourning" is $27,000,000—all of it paid by the workers. John L.'s salary went on just the same. When it is also figured that it will be 1956 before the miners make up in increased pay what they lost in the long strikes and three-day weeks of 1949 and 1950, it would seem that some of the brighter miners might begin to figure it would be cheaper in the long run just to eliminate John L. as the big boss and pass the hat for a final brief memorial to his costly services.

Letters To The Editor...

This letter is so cute we decided to use the writer's name in spite of the fact she requested us not to.

Dear Mr. Goodwin: I am sending you a clipping from "Capper's Weekly" reminding me of when I was coming to California to live. When I told a friend I was going to leave Oklahoma and cyclone her little daughter asked "won't the earth shake be worse?"

After 22 years I can truthfully answer that question by saying "no." Here is the Capper's item: "The Long Beach barber who raced from his shop at the first quivers of a recent quake gathered his family together and headed back for Tennessee from whence he came. The day he got home a tornado hit and destroyed half the town. He loaded his family into the jalopy and headed back for Long Beach." That also helps answer the little girl's question.

Editor of the Review

An open letter to Review Readers Do the people sponsoring the Unification School plan realize the value of the piece of land the School Board has in mind for the High School?

Thirty eight years ago Mr. Randolph Morse's mother and father purchased the 20 acres of lemon adjoining Mr. William West's 20 acres. Through the years thousands of dollars were spent on rebuilding and general improvements.

Land valued at $1,000 an acre is now $400 yet the owners have recently been told their is the "last piece of unimproved property left in Lemon Grove."

As a community grows new needs must be met, but with so many acres lying in the immediate vicinity why should the many tax payers be at the mercy of the few Board members who have apparently already picked the location.

Also, what actually constitutes "unimproved" property in Lemon Grove?

SCHOOL BUS SAFETY RULES

While loading at the school: Pupils should stand quietly in line.

Pupils should stand well back while the bus is approaching.

Pupils should not push forward or attempt to load until the bus is stopped, the door is open, and the driver gives instructions to load.

While Riding: Pupils should remain quiet on bus, talking only in conversational tones.

Pupils should never stand or move from seat to seat while bus is in motion.

Pupils should never have arms, or any part of their bodies, out of bus windows.

Pupils should not wrestle, scuffle, or hit other passengers.

Pupils should not talk to, or shout at the bus driver while bus is in motion.

While Unloading: Pupils should remain seated until the bus comes to a complete stop.

Pupils should follow instructions given by the driver concerning unloading, crossing streets, watching traffic, etc.

A pupil should watch for his bus stop and unload quickly.

While Loading at Home: Pupils should never arrive at bus stop more than 15 minutes before the scheduled time.

Pupils should not play in the street while waiting at the bus stop.

Pupils should respect the property of other people while waiting for the bus.

Loading procedure should be the same as at school.

Teachers and parents are responsible for the proper instruction of pupils in safety regulations. Parents must assume responsibility for the behavior of pupils while waiting for the bus, and for any property damage incurred at this time. Parents will give special attention to instructing pupils concerning the rules for loading at home and riding on the bus.

Safety monitors will be used on buses to report discipline cases. Principals will deny pupils who disobey safety rules the privilege of riding the bus for a period of time. Parents must cooperate with the principals of the schools in the matter of discipline for infraction of rules.

While the Lemon Grove School District has a near perfect safety record for transportation of pupils, increasing attention must be given to this matter since highway traffic is becoming heavier each day. We urge that all parties concerned assume their responsibility in ensuring the safe transportation of our pupils.

as near the exact location as possible. Then the following day observers fly over the area to make sure everything is out.

Ken said, "But I've a good chance of making more soon. I couldn't ask you to get along on $30 a week."

"We'd be happy," Jill told him. "I'd be happy with you no matter what you made a week," she added, practically. "But it is more sensible to wait. Things would be so much easier."

Jill's parents nodded their heads wisely when she told them about it. Their daughter was smart. She had good sense.

"Ken's a bright boy," Mr. Whitney agreed. "He'll be making $50 per in no time at all."

Mr. Whitney had faith. Jill had faith. Ken had faith. But Ken had more. He had incentive. Jill was the incentive. Up until a month ago women hadn't bothered him much. Then he'd met Jill. Neither of them had ever quite recovered from the discovery that they loved each other. It was too wonderful.

Ken was a writer of advertising copy. In the days that followed he wrote advertising copy with a zip and a sparkle that he had never thought himself capable of. He thought surely that Mr. Santrell, his boss, would notice. Mr. Santrell did. He complimented Ken highly and bestowed upon his young shoulders an encouraging pat. But the old pay envelope still contained 10 bucks, no more.

Weeks passed. Ken still zipped out his smart copy, but that was all the good it did him. Every week he opened his pay envelope with an eagerness that made his disappointment double-edged. Every week he hoped that he would call on Jill and tell her that he'd received the raise and there was no need of waiting longer.

But that day didn't come. He and Jill talked about it. Occasionally one of them became discouraged. Then the other assumed a cheerful and optimistic attitude. The raise would come. It was bound to.

But it didn't. Two months passed. Ken began to despair. Jill, he imagined, was becoming less interested. He fancied she was falling out of love with him. He couldn't blame her. On the other hand, if her love were genuine, she'd wait forever.

His fears were realized one day a week later when he saw her out driving with a young man with a black mustache. Sight of the pair laughing and talking together was like a knife-thrust in his heart. He made inquiries and learned that the young man with the black mustache was Cy Parker, son of a business associate of Jill's father. Cy was just home from a year abroad after graduating from college.

The next night when Ken called on Jill he expected her to explain about Cy Parker. But she said nothing. It was a dreary night. The moon was obscured by heavy clouds. There was mist in the air. Ken drove home early. They said good-night without kissing.

Ken wished he were dead. He might, he thought, as well be dead. Death could have no sting like the pain in his heart.

Thereafter the zip and sparkle went out of Ken's advertising copy. He could think of nothing but Jill. Mr. Santrell no longer paused beside his desk to compliment him and pat him on the shoulder. He began to fear for his job. He was miserable.

Three nights later he called on Jill. She was alone, waiting in the living room, dressed for a party. He knew she must be going out with Cy Parker.

"I guess," he said without preamble, "you've thought it over and decided it was a mistake."

"Thought what over?" Jill said. "About marrying me. If you loved me you wouldn't care how much I was making."

"I've already told you I could be happy with you no matter what you made a week."

"But you wouldn't marry me on 30 dollars a week."

"Who said I wouldn't?"

"Why," said Ken, "why—you did."

"I never. I never said any such thing. I merely agreed with you when you said we ought to be making more. I thought you wanted me to agree. I thought you didn't think we could be happy on $30."

"Well, for gosh sakes!" said Ken. He stared at her. She was looking at him round-eyed. There was a sort of hopeful appeal in her expression.

"Well, for gosh sakes!" he said again, and suddenly popped out of his chair and strode over to the divan where she was sitting.

When Mr. Cy Parker rang the Whitney doorbell 15 minutes later no one answered it. The elder Whitneys were away and Jill was busy. Quite busy. After a while Mr. Parker went away.

Shortly after this Ken sat up straight. He looked like one who had swooned into a coma and liked it. Jill said:

"And now that we've decided we can be happy on 30 dollars a week, I want to tell you something. I feel that I have the right."

"You certainly have," declared Ken earnestly. "No one in the world has a better right."

"Then tomorrow you start writing advertising copy with the same zip and sparkle that you did before. And after you've been doing it for a week you go into Mr. Santrell and demand a raise."

"But, holy smoke! I can't do that! Why, he might fire—"

"You do as I say," Jill told him. "After all, my opinion ought to be considered if I have to get along on half your salary."

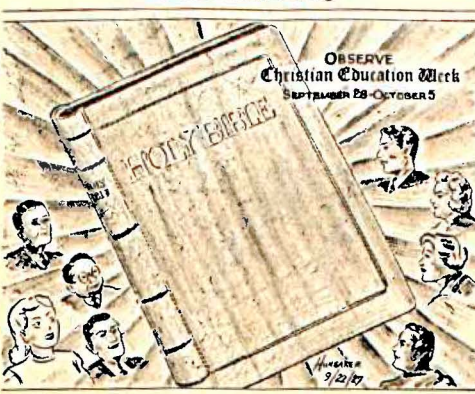

Ken did as he was told. The following Saturday night he rushed up the Whitney front walk with wild whoops of joy.

"I knew he'd give you the raise," Jill smiled. "Your stuff is good."

"What gives me?" Ken said, perplexed. "Is why I didn't think of asking him myself long ago?"

"There's a lot of things you should have thought of long ago," Jill said wisely.

GOOD SENSE

BY RICHARD HILL WILKINSON

THEY DECIDED to be sensible about it.

Co-Ordination Is Keynote In Pre-School Meet

Approximately eighty teachers and administrators from the Lemon Grove School District attended the four day pre-school workshop last week. Byron L. Netzley, superintendent, and S. K. Solleder, assistant superintendent, acted as co-chairmen for the first general meeting. Following a coffee hour, Dan Apra, minister from the Lemon Grove Congregational Church, spoke. Mrs. Grace Burkes, local teacher and district representative to the County Curriculum Planning Committee, reported on work recently accomplished by this group and outlined the plans for this school year.

All teachers were guests at a luncheon at the new Monterey Heights School Cafeteria.

"Classes for Exceptional Children" was the topic chosen by Fred Bode, of the County Schools Guidance and Attendance Department, Wednesday morning. Visual aids set up in Lemon Grove Schools was explained by Rolland Purves, a report on the NEA Detroit Convention was given by Grace Burkes, and the new language arts guides, to be used this year in the county schools, were discussed and explained by Peg Darroch.

Following a discussion of the teachers' handbook, all new teachers to the district schools were luncheon guests of the Lemon Grove Kiwanis Club. Wednesday afternoon, Burton Tiffany, County Curriculum Coordinator, spoke on "Our Year Ahead." His address was followed by a meeting of the Lemon Grove District Teachers Association with Rick Stammerjohn, new president, presiding.

Thursday and Friday no general meetings were scheduled, but building meetings and grade level meetings were held at the five schools in the district.

Many of the projects discussed and developed at the county administrators workshop in late August were considered, and definite plans for the developing and stressing of in-service education and training were audio and visual aids, the made.

Winner Named In Egg Derby

The bright-eyed Leeborn, Number 5, Pecosway, cracked loudly with glee Tuesday afternoon when she laid the first egg in the Pullet Derby and won the big contest which has been going on for ten weeks at the Mason Feed Store, Imperial Avenue, Lemon Grove.

The contest as "race" has been conducted for several years at the Mason's Feed Store to show Grove farmers and others interested in poultry how body condition, early and long-lived production can be developed using the Purina Program and the "1028" growing ration. Farmer Stark, who lives at 11411 Elka Dr., La Mesa, judged "No. 5" as the potential winner and came within 12 days of judging the exact day she would produce the Derby-winning egg. He will be presented with an electric clock as his award. Other winners in the Pullet Derby were Mrs. Evelyn Oliver, Lemon Grove, who will be presented with a stew pan, and Pauline Cardell, 41st St., who was given a stove set.

UNDERSTANDING GOD IS SUBSTANCE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON SAYS

Sounds Fishy To Ye Ed. Won't Pay Bet

ED LEWIS & FRIEND

Ed Lewis, who operates the Grove Wallpaper and Paint store, bet the publisher of this paper that he'd catch a salmon during his ten day vacation which ended last week.

The rascal, regardless of how he came into possession of them, shipped six salmon, weighing 55 pounds, home to his daughter, Eleanor Padan.

The fish presently repose in the Padan freezer for all and sundry to come and look... but a look is all that Ed is giving.

The bet will positively not be paid by the publisher until proof can be presented that Lewis personally caught the fish.

During the trip which took Ed and his wife Alma up to Eureka, he managed to get caught in two snowstorms. Since it was his wife's first snowstorm, for that matter it was one of the two times she has ever been out of the state, Ed did it up fine. He got his windshield wiper frozen up on Mt. Shasta and he got bogged down in the snow swept mountain between Reno and Sacramento and spent three days in a driving rainstorm in the north part of the state.

While Ed is planning another fishing trip for spring, Alma doesn't have the enthusiasm for this trip that she had before the recent one.

The publisher of this paper, before paying of his bet, wants Ed to explain why the fish came packed in a carton marked "Lemon Grove Shopping Center."

PEARCE GIVES UP WESTERN UNION

Grove PTA Plans Halloween Party

The executive board of the Lemon Grove School P. T. A. met at the home of Mrs. Robert Beckham, president, last week to approve the program for the year and to discuss finance and budget arrangements and also ways and means.

The following new chairmen were ratified: Burton Jones, auditor as chairman of the budget and finance committee; Mrs. A. L. Reed, parent education committee; Mrs. Myron Gust, board of control representative; and Mrs. Loy Holmquist, music chairman.

The group also made plans for the refreshment period held for parents of the intermediate school during pre-school work shop.

Arrangements for the Halloween carnival to be held with the Golden Avenue and San Miguel P. T. A.'s were begun. Members of the board are planning to attend the Ninth District Workshop to be held in San Diego on September 23, at the First Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Beckham, the hostess, served refreshments to the board members following the business meeting.

If You Are Bald It's Just Too Bad, Says Expert On Subject

Dr. Otto Rattner, noted dermatologist at Northwestern University, attributes baldness to heredity and said to "count the bald hairs" if you are tempted by hair tonic ads.

He said no effective cure has been found to remedy or delay baldness in men.

Baldness is passed from father to daughter, who acts as a carrier and transmits it to her son, Rattner said. Therefore if the mother's father was bald, it is possible her son will develop a shiny pate.

Likewise, if you are bald your daughter's son may be bald, and there is little that can be done to prevent it.

The subject of falling hair long has been clothed in mystery and superstition, Rattner said. He related the biblical story of Sampson, whose muscles melted with each snip as Delilah sheared away his locks.

Strange Remedies

Conversely, baldness long has been associated with superior mentality, Rattner said. It's all a lot of hocus pocus, according to the doctor.

He cited "remedies" which have been tried through the ages. An Egyptian salve consisted of equal parts of the fats of a lion, hippopotamus, crocodile and serpent, he said. "Ashes of little frogs, applied suddenly, cure the fall of hair," was taken from an old text.

Bald spots in later days were rubbed with the middle bark of an elm tree, with watercress or building program, yet producers were able to market about five per cent more cattle during the comparable period last year by offering a larger volume of steers and heifers.

This is good news to a nation even onion followed by application of hearty meat-eaters. Our meat ton of honey and boxwood. Treatments today include the upward and we eat much more mangle cure, creosote or cholesterol of it on a per capita basis, than rol, with perfume, quinine, tar any other nation with a minor exception or two, such as Australia. Even so, experts in nutrition believe that our consumption should be greater still. Science has proven that beef and the other meats contribute very

Hand Fans 'Lose Face' as Women Use Other Wiles

A MINOR casualty of the new electrical age is the fan, not the electric fan but the "light instrument held in the hand and used for the raising of a current of air to cool the face."

In more delicate, pre-mechanical times, ladies often depended on fans to signal swains—summoning them or dismissing them, encouraging or discouraging them. "Women," said an English wit of a gentler age, "are armed with fans as men with swords—and sometimes do more execution with them."

The fan itself is an ancient device. Fans have been found in the tombs of Egyptian pharaohs; they were known to the Chinese 5,000 years ago, and they were made by the ancient Greeks and Romans.

Probably the first fans were used in prehistoric times for the winnowing of grain and as bellows to fan the flames of campfires. They are still employed for this purpose in many parts of the world. Their first use as cooling devices probably was purely coincidental.

A more romantic version of the origin of the fan is found in mythology. Cupid is said to have plucked a wing—or maybe just a handful of feathers—from the back of Zephyrus, god of the west wind, to fan his beloved Psyche as she lay sleeping on a bed of roses.

Feathers have been used in fans from the first. The ancient Egyptian fans employed peacock and other feathers; the oriental fans often were made of feathers, and they were sometimes incorporated into European fans which reached their peak in artistry in the 18th century.

The folding fan was invented by the Japanese in the seventh century, A.D., and probably was brought to Europe by Portuguese traders a thousand years later. These folding fans used many materials, such as ivory, mother-of-pearl, tortoise shell, and carved sandalwood for the sticks, or ribs.

But none of the cures have produced "satisfactory results," he should be greater still. Science has proven that beef and the other meats contribute very

Vista Man Elected President Council County Horsemen

Stan Keagy, Vista horseman, has been elected president of the Presidents' Advisory Council of San Diego County Horsemen, and Mrs. Irene Carlstrom, of El Cajon, was elected vice president. Keagy, who also is president of the Vista Palomar Riders, succeeds Paul Pearson, of the Conval Riding Club, and Mrs. Carlstrom, president of the Balboa Mounted Troop, takes the office formerly held by Ben Hill, past president of the El Cajon Riding Club.

More Money For Better Eggs

An extra $60 a month! That's enough to make a poultryman sit up and take notice. But it's just what an extra dime a dozen can add up to for a poultryman who keeps a good average flock of say, 500 birds. Furthermore, the extra dime a dozen isn't hard to come by!

How come? Well—the extra earnings come from housewives, stores, restaurants and hotels who are willing to pay 10, 15 or even 25c a dozen over wholesale price to be sure that they are getting quality eggs. That's the secret... quality. That, and marketing the eggs yourself.

Housewives always like to buy eggs with thick, firm whites that make stiff, snowy meringues and fluffy cakes. They like rich, light golden yolks, good flavor, and high nutritional value. Stores always want good sources of these quality eggs. They're glad to buy eggs packed in clean, fresh, attractive cartons. A poultryman can build a profitable business this way.

The same goes for restaurants and hotels. Many quality eating places make a specialty of serving eggs with uniform light yolks. These places are excellent prospects. Store, hotel and restaurant business is in volume, too, so even though the premium per dozen is a little less, the profits are excellent because less work is involved.

But housewives, stores, and institutions can't tell by looking at an egg whether it's high quality or not. They have to depend on the integrity of the poultryman and the way he presents his eggs to them. It's important, then that they be packed, clean and fresh in colorful attractive cartons. Such cartons have a design that is associated with other quality food products. And — it should have a printed money-back guarantee of quality, besides having the producer's name prominently displayed.

In many areas, poultrymen are finding it very profitable to operate a group marketing setup to sell their quality eggs and those of other producers. Then, too, some feed dealers operate egg marketing services to help feeders get bonus prices for eggs.

This is important. If you want to sell eggs this way, be sure

STRANGE RESCUE AT SEA... The submarine USS Sea Poacher rescues a blimp off Key West, Fla. The submarine is towing the blimp after evacuating the blimp's crew. The blimp pilot and observer rode out the strange rescue. The blimp's power was knocked out when it hit the water during a mock attack on the submarine off the Florida city. As the blimp dried off it rose into the air again. Heavy rains had forced the blimp so close to the water that the cabin had gone under.

Grossmont Adds Seven Teachers

The growth of Grossmont High School from an enrollment of 1802 last year to an anticipated 2200 for 1952-53 has made necessary the addition of seven members to the teaching staff according to Harry C. Riley, principal. Two of these are replacements. One will replace Mrs. Peggy Peterson, English-social studies teacher, whose husband's work took him to Santa Monica where she has now gone to teach. The other will replace Calvin Mooser who has left teaching to go into business.

Among the new teachers at Grossmont is Waldo Riches, a graduate of Oregon State College, Mr. Riches, who taught in Eureka, California, last year will teach agriculture 1 and 2.

Miss Carolyn Jenks from Stanford University and San Jose State College will teach drama 1 and 2, English-social studies, and stagecraft.

John Christenson, who taught at San Jacinto High School in '51-'52, is a graduate of Long Beach State College and will teach crafts, 1, 2, and 3, and design.

It'd like to take a little space this week to tell to a couple of men who have had their share in controlling fires in San Diego County, and who retired last month. Dean Blake, Meteorologist in charge of the San Diego Office of the U. S. Weather Bureau, retired after being in the local office for 50 years. Weather always plays a very important part in controlling wild fires, and Dean Blake has always cooperated to the "nth" degree when it came to weather.

Since 1934, we've been expanding our system to bring telephone service to the Columbia Basin area.

When the Columbia Basin needed telephones

Making a desert blossom meant building a complete, new communications system

Twenty years ago, much of central Washington was sagebrush wasteland. Then came the Columbia Basin project with its plans for a huge dam and thousands of miles of irrigation canals. Right from the beginning, one of the important "tools" needed was telephone service. And we began, even before a yard of earth was moved, to create a new telephone system in the desert. We've invested hundreds of thousands of dollars to build the new facilities in the Columbia Basin... an investment which will mean much to the West and to the nation. For it is helping turn barren land into rich, food-producing farms.

Your telephone
best bargains

Throughout the West, the Columbia Basin telephone story has been told in hundreds of rapidly growing communities. And, fast as the West's growth has been, the telephone has grown at an even faster rate... twice as fast in the territory we serve. For at today's prices, the telephone is so economical more people can afford it... so useful, more people want it.

Highway mobile telephones have been helping contractors and engineers build a network of canals over the vast area. In 1934, we put a private line circuit from Coulee Dam to Ephrata. Today the dam itself is webbed with miles and miles of telephone lines... a nerve system over which practically all operations are controlled. And throughout the Basin area we've been building huge amounts of telephone facilities to take care of its amazingly rapid growth. In Ephrata, for instance, three operators handled all calls in 1942. Today, although dial equipment handles local calls, 25 operators are needed. In Moses Lake, there were 66 telephones in 1935. Today there are more than 2000... and the real growth still lies ahead. Eventually, irrigation water will reach more than a million acres. And we'll keep doing our best to see that the people who move there will have telephone service equal to that in other areas we serve here in the West.
